AFP American Free Press
Vol X #33 August 16, 2010 americanfreepress.net

AFP's Book Manager Opens a New Chapter

By Michael Collins Piper

With a twinge of regret, but looking forward to spending time traveling with her husband and visiting friends and family across America, Anne Cronin, the head of First Amendment Books, has announced her retirement from the staff of AMERICAN FREE PRESS, effective Aug. 19. You can rest assured that we will be sorry to see our friend and colleague moving on. Her contributions to our efforts have been inestimable.

Over the years she has racked up innumerable accomplishments and has won the admiration of those who have supported AFP and — before the emergence of AFP — Liberty Lobby, the Capitol Hill-based populist institution where Anne had worked for many years before that—going all the way back to 1964 when, fresh out of high school, she got her job with Liberty Lobby by accident.

One of Anne's friends had gone to Liberty Lobby to get a job, and Anne waited in the car. It turned out that there was another job available at Liberty Lobby and Anne's friend stepped outside and asked Anne if she was interested in applying. She applied, and she got the job.

Anne remained with Liberty Lobby until its untimely end in 2001 when the populist institution was scuttled and run out of business by a corrupt federal judge. During those years she established herself as the proverbial "go to" lady — a whirlwind of energy, a people person of the first order and the driving force behind many successful Liberty Lobby conferences and other activities over the years.

When AFP was established after Liberty Lobby's fall, Anne jumped into action and helped launch FIRST AMENDMENT BOOKS and continued to play a central role in the operations of the new publication.

With a great fondness, Anne recalls some of the folks (now in heaven) — big names and not-so-big names — with whom she worked over the years: Liberty Lobby's Board of Policy Chairman Colonel Curtis B. Dall; the hard-driving correspondent Andrew St. George, who pioneered some of the big stories published by Liberty Lobby's weekly newspaper, The Spotlight; the colorful European nobleman, Alec de Montmorency, rightful heir to the title grand duke of Luxembourg, who was a Spotlight correspondent — the list goes on and on.

"I'm going to miss my colleagues, of course," says Anne, "but I'll especially miss not having the opportunity to talk with all of those great people whom I've come to know, over the phone and in person, who've been such great supporters of AFP."

MINI-BOOK REVIEW FROM AFP

'New' Old Book Is Last Word on Fed

By Anne D. Cronin

Everybody talks about the Federal Reserve money fraud but few have ever really come up with a Constitutional solution to dealing with the problem. And even some of the most prominent critics of the Fed today — including some big names we won't mention here — obviously don't understand what the Fed is really all about.

Believe it or not, but some of these big-name critics of the Fed still believe the old myth that the Fed is a "government agency" and as such, these Fed critics want to get the government out of the economic arena and let "free enterprise" (that is, the big banks) run our money system.

In fact, as most AFP readers know, the Federal Reserve is a privately owned banker's monopoly of America's money system. There's nothing "federal" about it at all.

Even more importantly, it is entirely un-constitutional. Our Founding Fathers intended — as the Constitution makes clear — that the government should indeed be the arbiter of our nation's monetary system. The last thing they wanted was for the power over our nation's money to be in the hands of private bankers.

However, in 1913 the biggest private bankers of all put over the biggest scam ever foisted on the American people: they railroaded through Congress the enactment of the Federal Reserve System, presenting it as a mechanism to control the power of big money over the economy when, instead, it was precisely the opposite.

Over the years there have only been a handful of congressmen who have dared to challenge the Federal Reserve no holds barred. And one of the most diligent and persistent was the late Rep. JerryVoorhis (D-Calif.). His classic analysis of the Fed — entitled Out of Debt, Out of Danger — is available again at last, exclusively from AFP.

What makes Out of Debt, Out of Danger so particularly valuable is that Voorhis provides Americans with a viable, rational, realistic — and constitutional — solution to the problem of the Fed. His proposal is no pie-in-thesky pipedream that can be dismissed as "radical" or "revolutionary" (in the negative senses of those words) and offers thoughtful people some solid analysis of what the Fed is — and what the Fed is not — popular misconceptions notwithstanding.

No serious student of the Fed will fail to read — and study — Out of Debt, Out of Danger, the one book — out of them all — that was written by a government insider who understood the Fed and, more importantly, how to bring it into line.

——

Order Out of Debt, Out of Danger (softcover, 236 pages, $20, free S&H in U.S. until 9-1-2010) from AMERICAN FREE PRESS, 645 Pennsylvania Avenue SE, #100,Washington, D.C. 20003. For even faster ordering, call AFP toll free at 1-888- 699-6397 and charge your copy to major credit cards. See our flyer inside this issue.

* * * * * * *

Michael Collins Piper can be heard every week day night live on the Internet at republicbroadcasting.org. He is the author of Final Judgment, the controversial "underground bestseller" documenting the collaboration of Israeli intelligence in the assassination of John F. Kennedy. He is also the author of The High Priests of War, The New Jerusalem: Zionist Power in America , The Judas Goats: The Enemy Within, Dirty Secrets: Crime, Conspiracy & Cover-Up in the 20th Century, The GOLEM: Israel's Hell Bomb, and Target: Traficant. These works can be found at America First Books and FIRST AMENDMENT BOOKS: 1-888-699-NEWS. He has lectured on suppressed topics in places as diverse as Malaysia, Japan, Canada, Russia and Abu Dhabi.

(Issue #33, August 16, 2010, AMERICAN FREE PRESS)